

You work at Beacon Hospital, a state-of-the-art medical facility located on the first floor. The hospital has a Surgical Day Unit where surgical patients are registered, admitted, and receive pre-operative care and checks. Patients are then escorted to their assigned cubicle where they change into a hospital gown, non-slip socks, and disposable underwear. The hospital follows a team-based approach to injury prevention and management, with a focus on sports medicine, orthopedics, musculoskeletal radiology, and sports rehabilitation. The Sports Medicine team is led by internationally renowned consultants. Beacon Hospital also has a Surgical Day Unit, which is specially designed for admissions and pre-operative care. The hospital places a strong emphasis on patient safety and quality, with ongoing education for all staff. Patients are encouraged to provide feedback through email. Some common FAQs include arriving early for appointments and notifying the hospital if you are unwell before a scheduled procedure.
